

Station

In the 80's I went back to Greece, from Italy by this ship. Were some thirty years after I continued to explore the mechanisms of institutional power and control. The Enclosure, the containment in visual terms, and try to note how particular spaces reflect order and authority.

Every image needs the previous and the following one; duration is a basic element in breathing and in art.